

Open Faculty Position
Health Disparities OPEN ASSISTANT FACULTY POSITION
Racial and Ethnic Disparities in Health

The Department of Health Behavior and Health Education at The University of Michigan, School of Public Health invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professorship from scholars with a demonstrated record in conducting research on racial and ethnic disparities in health.

We are particularly interested in candidates with expertise in either examining the social determinants of racial disparities or in the design and implementation of interventions to address racial health disparities.

This new hire will join a faculty working on health disparities within multiple constituencies (e.g., women, adolescents, elderly) and at multiple levels (e.g., individual, community, social, policy). The department faculty includes scholars with diverse interests and expertise in basic research in health behavior/health education, the evaluation of planned health interventions, and the application of research findings to program development. The start date is September 2006.

Please send curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, and the names and contact information of three references by December 31, 2005 to:

Harold W. Neighbors, PhD
Chair, HBHE Disparities Search Committee Department of Health Behavior and Health Education University of Michigan, School of Public Health
1420 Washington Heights, Attn: Joyce Blair
Ann Arbor, MI 48109-2029
734/615-5243

The University of Michigan is a non-discriminatory Affirmative Action Employer. Women and members of minority groups are especially encouraged to apply. We reserve the right to consider applications until the position is filled.